Trashmen Accused Of'Spying'on Waste

Por Globert L. Asher Staff Reporter Staff Reporter

The wife of a prominent attorney here says she's piled up a heap of evidence that her trashmen are really some kind of undercover agents.

The National Capital Area liner explained that the case Civil Liberties Union, lifted began about a month ago, the lid on the case yesterday when the woman checked the in a letter to Brig. Gen Georgetown depot in search Charles M. Duke, the Dis-trict's Engineer Commission-Charles M. Duke, the Dis-dress book.

fice has investigated the wom-an's claim that "instead of being slung into the trash collectors' truck and comingled with all the other trash," the complainant's trash is put in a separate container.

At the depot, it is "inven-Investigation Ordered toried and thereafter apparently examined," he charged.

Protests to Department

checks, our paid or perhaps sult of the outery.
unpaid bills, after we have Carliner like unpaid bills, after we have Carliner likened it to thrown them all away for telephone tapping, intercepnone to see."

he would not name, had reasons he dumped the case

In an interview later Car-charges.

She was told that "we have David Carliner, chairman of that we're inventorying but the ACLU branch, said his of we can't release them to you." four bags of your trash here we can't release them to you,' Carliner reported.

He said that since then, some of his acquaintances have snooped on the alleged snoopers and found indeed that her trash is segregated.

The Department of Sanitation referred all queries yesterday to the "top echelon." Carliner's letter said the Upstairs at the District Union is "shocked by this Building, Gen. Duke ordered tion of mail and peeping He said the woman, whom through windows. For these protested to the Sanitation on the Commissioners, who Department.

Will now sift through the